

Friday, December 8

Celebration of Palestinian Women's Resistance

"The lesson the world should learn from Beit Hanoun last week is that Palestinians will never relinquish our land, towns and villages. We will not surrender our legitimate rights for a piece of bread or handful of rice. The women of Palestine will resist this monstrous occupation imposed on us at gunpoint, siege and starvation. Our rights and those of future generations are not open for negotiation... Whoever wants peace in Palestine and the region must direct their words and sanctions to the occupier, not the occupied, the aggressor, not the victim . . . "

– Jameela al-Shanti, elected member of the Palestinian legislative Council of Hamas and leader of the women's protest against the siege of Beit Hanoun

The New England Committee to Defend Palestine and Jericho Boston invite you to Palestinian Women's Resistance!

A Benefit for Palestinian Political Prisoners.

When: Friday, December 8th at 7 PM.

Where: Encuentro-5, 33 Harrison Ave. 5th Floor, Boston
(near the Chinatown stop on the Orange Line T)

Suggested donations: $10-$15

All proceeds will go to Palestinian political prisoners and their families.

This event is part of the International Week of Solidarity with Political Prisoners.

Women involved in the Palestine rebellion, 1937-1938

For more information see www.onepalestine.org and www.jerichoboston.org